

Data Protection and Information Security

This practice is committed to complying with the Data Protection Act 2018, the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), GDC, NHS and other data protection requirements relating to our work. We only keep relevant information about employees for the purposes of employment and about patients to provide them with safe and appropriate health care. All data protection and information security policies procedures and risk assessments are reviewed annually. The person responsible for data protection and information security is the Information Governance Lead, Christopher Evanson.

Our lawful bases for processing your personal data are listed in our Privacy Notice.

Our full Data Protection and Information Security Policy is available on request.

Further information
Information Commissioner www.ico.org.uk

GDPR Regulation